For various reasons this edition has been a long time in the making. It's been touch and go whether it would ever be produced at all. For the time being, we have decided to end the loss-making print version.

Once again, we are grateful to people who have freely given their time to make these results available. Thanks to Adam Gray for help with nominations, the chasing of electorates/turnout and for permission to include his excellent maps. Ken Leadbeater's help in identifying incumbents seeking re-election and in improving our data generally on candidates continues to be invaluable.

Our method in 2019 was to ask volunteers to complete the results from council websites. In alphabetical order these contributors are Harry Hayfield, Sharon Minto, Andrea Parma, Andrew Pulsford, Mary Shears, Andrew Stidwill, Robert Waller and Pete Whitehead. Apologies for the rather large gap between doing the work and seeing the outcome.

The responsibility for checking the data and compiling the tables that appear both here and on our website, www.electionscentre.co.uk, continues to fall to Galina Borisyuk. Lawrence Ware oversees maintenance and development of the database.

We return to our long-running praise of some local authorities in making results reasonably accessible via their websites. We use 'reasonable' since none, to our knowledge, make the data available in spreadsheet format. Sadly, the number of good authorities is outweighed by the poor.

Too many local authorities believe that it is acceptable to post ward results on websites without including information about the number of people that could have voted and the number that did vote in each ward/division. Following attempts to obtain this information we were even asked by some authorities to submit a Freedom of Information request. Frankly, this is ludicrous and would be avoided if all local authorities commit to publishing these details.

Introduction

The 2019 local elections not only saw the return of the Liberal Democrats but also a broad variety of Independent councillors. It is the latter that may prove in the longer term to be a catalyst for shaping a new style of local politics. Local voters are demonstrating frustration with the behaviour of the two main parties. Together the parties haemorrhaged more than 20 percentage points from the 85% of the vote they took in combination in 2017 as English local government once again took on a more fluid and multiparty look.

Our 'national equivalent vote' (NEV), compiled for The Sunday Times, put the Tories on 31% (five points down on the local elections the last time most of these contests were fought in 2015, and fully 12 points below their actual score at the 2017 general election). Labour was also on 31% - a point down on 2015, but 10 points worse than in 2017. The Liberal Democrats were estimated to be on 17% - seven points better than the 10% they registered when the electorate delivered its judgement on the coalition government in 2015 and more than double the party achieved at the last general election. Of course, the local elections were to make little impression on the subsequent December general election which saw the Conservative party increase its vote share for a record sixth successive election and win an overall majority of 80 seats in the House of Commons.

Brexit was the frame within which last week's local elections played out, but both Labour and the Conservatives need to look much wider to explain their own rather sorry performances. With many electors seeing parallels between a paralysed government and a lacklustre opposition nationally and their own local council, there was often a search for those untainted by office or internal party bickering. The more than 600 extra Independent councillors elected stood on a variety of platforms but could all claim to offer a fresh approach focused on local rather than party needs and concerns. The Liberal Democrats and Greens too took advantage of this reaction to the status quo and posted their best local results for some years.

As a long-serving government and because they were defending so many more seats and councils than any other party, the Conservatives were in the firing line. In places like Tendring and Thanet, those who had supported UKIP in 2015 on their way to voting Leave at the 2016 referendum, stuck with Independents. Elsewhere it was genuinely local campaigners who caused upsets. In East Devon Independents made 18 gains; in Uttlesford (Essex) a residents' association group took 17 seats directly from the Conservatives.

But that wasn't the whole story. Places which had been both Tory and Remain like Bath and North East Somerset, St Albans and Winchester swung decisively to the Liberal Democrats. And the Liberal Democrats even made advances in parts of the country once seen as their heartland but very far from a cosmopolitan Remain image. For the first time in a decade they are the controlling party again in North Devon, North Norfolk, and in two areas of Somerset.

This pincer movement was sufficient to deliver the worst Conservative local election result for a quarter of century. Their 1,300 losses were of a level unseen since they surrendered 2,000 seats to Tony Blair's then insurgent New Labour in 1995. Yet even amidst the carnage there were successes. They took heavily Leave North East Derbyshire directly from Labour (their only such success of the night) and made sufficient gains in both North East Lincolnshire and Walsall to win a majority in previously 'hung' councils.

For all the Tories' woes the pendulum did not swing to Labour which also suffered from the anti-politics mood. As the opposition to an unpopular government and defending a poor 2015 result, gains should have been a foregone conclusion. Instead they lost both seats and councils. The party did well enough in the big cities like Manchester and Leeds, but often fell back sharply in towns outside the main conurbations. The Tees Valley in North East England was particularly bad. Middlesbrough gave up 45 years of unbroken Labour rule following a surge by Independents which also saw their mayoral candidate easily defeat his Labour opponent. Darlington, Hartlepool, and Stockton-on-Tees were also lost to no overall control. In a handful of neighbouring authorities in the East Midlands the hostile reaction to incumbent councils was also plain. The Conservative gain in NE Derbyshire was countered by a similarly decisive swing the other way in Amber Valley. In Ashfield and Bolsover though it was Independents who ate into Labour support. Ashfield, safely Labour for almost all its existence, now has just two Labour councillors left.

There was a clear regional skew in these results, with Labour doing badly in the north and midlands – 186 seats were lost here. The early declarations in Sunderland made sombre viewing for party supporters with any rival, including UKIP, often preferred to Labour incumbents. Elsewhere in the north east Labour lost majority control in Darlington, Hartlepool, Middlesbrough, and Stockton on Tees. North East Derbyshire was gained directly by the Conservatives, Burnley, Cannock Chase, Cheshire West & Chester and Wirral became hung while Walsall and North East Lincolnshire now have Conservative administrations courtesy of Labour losses.

In making 700 gains the Lib Dems secured their biggest single jump in councillor numbers since 1987, but it was rather stretching the point to claim –as Deputy Leader Jo Swinson did- that this was their ‘best ever’ set of results. In truth they still only have half the councillors they did for much of the nineties and noughties and remain some way short of pre-coalition level in councils controlled. In terms of a proportional increase in councillors, it is the Greens who did best of all. Their tally nearly quadrupled from 71 to 263 to firmly establish their place as the albeit distant fourth party in England. In most places they picked up just a couple of seats, but local agreements with the Liberal Democrats in Folkestone and Hythe (the former Shepway) and Mendip for example brought greater reward. It is also interesting to note that they recovered ground in councils like Brighton & Hove and Norwich where they had looked outflanked by Labour on the left since Jeremy Corbyn became party leader.

Mayoral Results

There were six mayoral elections, including the inaugural election of the North of Tyne Metro Mayor. The jurisdiction of this new post covers an area administered by two metropolitan boroughs (Newcastle upon Tyne and North Tyneside) and the former county now unitary council of Northumberland. While Labour's Jamie Driscoll won the largest share of votes cast in Newcastle and North Tyneside the Conservative Charlie Houlton won most votes across Northumberland. Under the rules of the Supplementary Vote (SV) a count of second votes was required to determine the winner with each candidate acquiring similar numbers of transfers. Driscoll's winning total of 76,862 votes is 42% of the total number of first votes cast – short of an absolute majority, a common feature of SV. The number of second votes redistributed from the three candidates eliminated after the count of first votes is 29,423 – 39% of the more than seventy-five thousand that were theoretically available – again, a majority of second votes are not transferred to either of the two candidates contesting the second round. Electors continue to demonstrate a lack of familiarity with the procedure for determining the winner in an SV election.

The outcome in Mansfield hinged on just two votes. Following the first count incumbent Kate Allsop trailed her Labour challenger by 1,021 votes. Only 3,117 second votes were re-distributed and while most of these went to Allsop it was not enough to prevent Andy Abrahams from winning after three recounts.

Using the Handbook

In 2019 there were elections in England for a total of 248 local authorities comprising 33 Metropolitan boroughs, 47 Unitary councils and 168 shire district councils. Among the unitary councils there were two new councils (Bournemouth, Christchurch & Poole; Dorset). Among the district councils there were three new councils (East Suffolk, West Suffolk, Somerset West & Taunton).

New boundaries were implemented in 56 councils. These are:

Unitary councils: Bath & North East Somerset, Bournemouth, Christchurch & Poole, Dorset, Cheshire West & Chester, Nottingham, Redcar & Cleveland, Rutland, South Gloucestershire, Torbay, West Berkshire, Windsor & Maidenhead.

District councils: Allerdale, Ashford, Babergh, Bolsover, Carlisle, Chichester, Copeland, Crawley, Dartford, Dover, East Cambridgeshire, East Devon, East Hampshire, East Suffolk, Eastbourne, Forest of Dean, Harborough, Hertsmere, Horsham, Kings Lynn & West Norfolk, Lewes, Mid Suffolk, North Devon, North East Derbyshire, North Norfolk, Norwich, Preston, Reigate & Banstead, Ribble Valley, Richmondshire, Rother, Runnymede, Scarborough, Somerset West & Taunton, South Norfolk, South Somerset, Surrey Heath, Teignbridge, Tendring, Test Valley, Tewkesbury, Torridge, Warwick, Wealden, West Suffolk.

The results sections of the Handbook cover the Metropolitan boroughs, Unitary councils and Shire district councils respectively. Within these categories councils are organised alphabetically. Local authority ward results are reported in alphabetical order of ward name. The results are followed by Adam Gray's maps that show the party winning each ward. The main parties are shown in their standard colours while Independents are in light brown, Residents Associations etc in a darker brown. In the case of multi-member wards where seats are divided a striped pattern is used to identify the different winners.

Election results have generally been taken by various of the authors from figures provided by each local authority's website. Other data, for example, many electorate figures, were obtained in collaboration with Adam Gray following consultation with local authority staff.

The aggregate data include the percentage vote share for a range of parties and independent candidates. Where more than one councillor is elected then the vote of the best placed candidate for each party is used in calculating total vote. In contests featuring multiple Independent candidates these are grouped according to the number of seats in a ward. In the example of a three-member seat with six Independent candidates, therefore, the votes of the first and fourth placed Independent contribute towards the total vote figure. The change in vote share relates to the 2015 result at the local authority level. The number of candidates presented by each party is also shown as too is the number successfully elected in 2019.

In the main body of the book the results for each ward are listed in alphabetical order within each local authority. The figure in brackets adjacent to the ward name is the local electorate prior to the 2019 election. The practice adopted by local authorities for calculating this figure varies but the introduction of rolling electoral registers means that this figure is a good approximation of the numbers eligible to vote on election day. Nevertheless, it has been impossible to adopt a standard definition of electorate or reliably to identify the particular procedures used by each authority.

Occasionally some scheduled elections are postponed (normally because of the death of one of the nominated candidates) and the contest is held later. Such cases in 2019 are: Broxtowe, Stableford South West; Forest of Dean, Newent & Taynton; Herefordshire Ross North; North Devon, Chittlehampton; Salford, Walkden South; South Ribble, Farington West; South Staffordshire, Wombourne South West; and Tendring, St. Osyth. These are designated as by-elections in the Handbook followed by the date on which they were held. The details from these postponed elections are included in all aggregate statistics. In North Kesteven only one nomination was received for the two-seat vacancy in Billingham, Martin & North Kyme ward and a by-election for the remaining vacancy was held on June 13, 2019. This by-election result is not included in the data.

Candidates are listed in descending order of vote within each ward. Surname and initials are used; 'Ms.' after a candidate's name indicates a woman; and the symbol '*' indicates that the candidate was a sitting councillor, although not necessarily for the ward contested for in 2019. Two points should be noted. First, it is sometimes difficult to establish from someone's name whether they are a man or a woman. Although lists of forenames are consulted there are many that remain unidentified. It is also difficult sometimes to track incumbent councillors seeking re-election although Kenneth Leadbeater has helped considerably.

‘Vote’ is the number of electors who supported each candidate and ‘Share’ the proportion of the total number who cast a valid ballot supporting each candidate. The process of rounding means that shares do not necessarily sum to 100. In the case of multi-member wards where more than one vacancy was filled we have used the vote of each party’s best placed candidate in order to calculate total vote and hence party shares. Where a candidate(s) was returned unopposed then either ‘0’ or ‘0.0’ are used in the fields for vote, share and turnout. Below the list of candidates is a further line of data. First, we print the party whose candidate finished top of the poll at the previous election – note: the year may vary according to the particular electoral cycle for that ward. Next, is recorded the percentage turnout. Turnout is the proportion of the electorate that cast valid ballots at the election. In most cases turnout is that given by the local Electoral Administrator and has thus been calculated knowing the number of valid ballot papers issued. In a relatively small number of cases we have ourselves calculated turnout from the available information. The figure to the right of the turnout represents the percentage lead of the winning party over the second placed party rounded to one decimal place. The process of rounding means that in some cases the percentage majority may not be the same as the winning party’s vote share minus the second-placed party’s share.

Candidates standing for local election use an extensive variety of party labels. These labels, and the abbreviations used in this Handbook, are described below:
